Excerpt: . . . standing the many recommendations made by the several comptrollers, there has been practically no amendment of the law since the passage of the original bank act of February 25, 1863, which can be said to have had for its object the particular welfare of the depositor. Of the fifty-four acts amendatory of the original enactment which have been adopted since that date, practically all have been in the interest of greater latitude or privileges to the banks. The responsibility should rest where it properly belongs-- upon the law and the lawmakers, and not upon the administrative officials. This is but the barest outline of the upbuilding of the power which now controls. Is there a way out Let us consider. By its decisions in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases the Supreme Court has all at once created itself into a legislature, an interstate commerce commission and a supreme court, combined in one. The rule of reason gives it legislative power, the power to determine according to its own opinion that some restraints of trade are lawful and other restraints unlawful. The power to carry out the dissolution and reorganization of the trusts and to work out the details is exactly the power that a legislature turns over to a commission. Punishment for contempt is the courts substitute for the criminal penalty that the legislature attaches to the violation of its statutes. The supreme court has amended the antitrust act in exactly the way that..
